Cookies

When you use or visit our websites, we may place one or more cookies on your device. A “cookie” is a small file that is placed on your device when you visit a website. It records information about your device, your browser and, in some cases, your preferences and browsing habits. We may use this information to recognize you when you return to our websites, to provide personalized services on our websites, to compile analytics in order to better understand website activity, and to improve our websites. You can use your browser settings to remove or block cookies on your device. However, if you decide not to accept, or to block, cookies from our websites, you may not be able to take advantage of all of the features of our websites.

We may process your personal information through cookie technology, in accordance with the provisions of this Statement. We may also use remarketing tags to serve advertisements to people who we know have previously visited our websites

To the extent that third parties have embedded content on our websites (e.g., social media features) those third parties may collect your personal information (e.g., cookie data) if you choose to engage with such third party content, or otherwise use third party services.

Data retention

We will only retain your personal information for as long as we require it in connection with the purposes set out in this Privacy Statement. We may also be required to retain your personal information for additional periods of time, for example, where required to do so by Applicable Laws.

Acceptance of this Statement

By signing any commitments, agreements, contracts through documents (paper or electronic devices) with the Company, and/or by using any Site, App or Device, you are deemed to have accepted this Statement. If you do not accept the terms set out in this Statement, you must not sign any commitments, agreements, contracts and/or you must not use any Sites, Apps or Devices.

Amendments to this Statement

Interfood may amend, revise or update this Statement at any time.

We may not provide you with any specific notice but we will post any changes to this Privacy Statement as a notification on the Site. You are encouraged to frequently check this Statement for any changes, and to stay informed about how we are helping to protect your Personal Information.

Your continued signing any commitments, agreements, contracts and/or use of any Site, App or Device is deemed to be acceptance of any amendments to this Statement.

This Statement was first made available on: 08/08/2022.
